

CLARK WANTS BETTER LAWS.

Governor of Alaska Points to Serious Defects.

Report Says Present System Retards Development.

Population Increase Awaits More Liberal Policy.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—There are serious defects in the general mining laws of the United States as applied to Alaska, and these defects are becoming more apparent, according to Gov. Walter E. Clark, who sets forth his views in his annual report to Secretary of the Interior Fisher. The existence of provisions tending to retard development and to encourage more speculation has been complained about frequently by influential and progressive miners in the United States, he says, and adds: "In Alaska there still is more ground for complaint, for the owners of mining claims in many cases have no intention of operating their claims. The motive to develop as a condition of ownership is entirely wanting in Alaska."

One of the worst discouragements to mining development under present conditions, he asserts, "is the frequent and long-drawn-out litigation over mining claims and water rights which the present system induces."

Commenting on the fact that there was no increase in population in Alaska during the last year, Gov. Clark says that "any considerable increase in the population of the Territory must await a more liberal governmental policy as a whole, including a revision of the present laws and the enactment of new ones; and furthermore, in some measure a more considerate attitude on the part of the press and the people in the States toward the development of Alaska by highly capitalized interests."

The prime importance of providing a means by which capital might be made possible under the law is appreciated generally, he says, adding that "the finding of any number of existing claims, which fall to be brought complete solution of the problem."

WORK FOR THE FAIR.

DELEGATIONS ATTEND HEARING (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) C. C. Moore, President of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, James McNeil and others from San Francisco are here to attend the Senate Committee hearing tomorrow to consider a resolution.

RECOMMENDS TAYLOR SYSTEM.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(By A. P. Night Wire to the Times.)—Brig. Gen. William Crozier, chief of the Ordnance Bureau of the War Department, testifying before the House Committee in the investigation of the Taylor and other systems of scientific management, yesterday declared the Taylor system to be the most efficient of the Ordnance Bureau shops. Gen. Crozier produced figures which he said showed the government was competing successfully with outside contractors. He said 1000 rounds of small arms ammunition cost the government $27.15 to manufacture at the Springfield arsenal, and the private contract price for this ammunition was $34. His computation of what he termed the "economizing cost" of a Springfield rifle was $17.55 and the factory price $25.

NOT PREPARED FOR WAR.

PLAN TO DISTRIBUTE ARMY. (BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Secretary of War Stimson told the House Committee on military affairs yesterday that the army was unprepared for war because of its geographical disposition. The troops were in a state of high efficiency, but they must be distributed according to a tactical plan, where their services could be used to the greatest advantage, he said. The war college and the general staff have been at work on plans which are understood to contemplate a reorganization of most branches of the army service, the abandonment of many military posts in the interior and the location of large bodies of troops at strategic positions.

A CHANCE TO THAW OUT.

The Washington Weather Bureau promises relief to Eastern sections from prevailing cold weather. (BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—"Relief from the intense cold which has prevailed in all sections of the country during the last few days is promised during the coming week," a bulletin issued tonight by the Weather Bureau says.

The general pressure distribution as shown by the weather map of the northern hemisphere during the last several days is such as to indicate a general reaction to normal temperature conditions over the eastern half of the country by the middle of the week, and to temperatures above the seasonal average in western districts throughout the week.

The week will become of generally fair weather east of the Rocky Mountains, except that a short period of rain in southern and snow in northern States will attend a disturbance which will appear in the northwest on Wednesday, cross midday west on Wednesday or Thursday, and the eastern States about Friday. Precipitation will be about normal in the north Pacific States."

BOOK-KEEPING WEEK.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(By A. P. Night Wire.) The coming week of the trial of the Chicago packers before Judge Carpenter in the United States District Court today was characterized as "book-keeping week" by the government's lawyers. Books kept by the packers and the company were examined in an effort to show that they had been falsified by means of allowances for hides and tallow in 1907 and resumed in 1907-08, as alleged by the government.

DEATH AT THROTTLE.

Mrs. A. G. Lockwood, Cincinnati, slightly hurt.
Attorney A. K. Miller, Toledo, slightly hurt.
Lester Rothenburg, Dayton, O., leg hurt.
O. W. Hatter, Dayton, O., slightly hurt.
Mrs. O. W. Hatter, Dayton, O., internal injuries.
W. P. Ball, Diamonddale, Mich., ankle broken.
Miss Gertrude Taylor, Indianapolis, Ind., slightly hurt.
Miss Mary Taylor, Union City, Ind., slightly hurt.
G. Losendurfer, Toledo, O., leg broken.
J. W. Baker, Sanford, Ct., left leg hurt.
E. M. Brenner, Urbana, left leg hurt.
J. W. Schaefer, Dayton, Ky., bruised.
Miss Lucy Corey, Toledo, O., arm hurt.

Many of the injured are now in a local hospital, being brought here by a special train this afternoon. Physicians state that W. H. Hookins of Detroit, and the persons injured internally, may die.

The wreck is attributed to a spreader on the train.

The train was running south, making up lost time, and going down grade when the wreck occurred. The combination, dining and day coaches in the middle of the train left the track first. The train ran for 500 feet and then two of the three passenger coaches tumbled over and down a slight embankment. The engine then left the track.

Engineer Thomas says he does not know what caused the wreck, and did not know anything was wrong until he felt the train swaying behind him. After the cars were derailed, the dining coach caught fire, but that was extinguished before it had done much damage.

A farmer's wife, hearing the crash, hurried to the scene of the wreck with a ladder and helped break the wreckage of the coaches, from which the passengers crawled, or were dragged out.

OPENS THROTTLE, SAVES HIS TRAIN.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

REDMOND (Or.) Jan. 14.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Sixty passengers on the Oregon Trunk train that arrived this morning had a thrilling experience and a narrow escape from death on the trip.

The train, which left Portland, Ore., at 10:15 a.m. at night, the train was on the Oregon Trunk bridge, near North Junction. Apparently the high water had carried away some supports for one span let down as the engine struck the bridge. The engineer, W. B. Dixon, with rare presence of mind, opened the throttle wide and pulled almost the entire train over the bridge, which then "let down" until the rear coach left the bridge. The train was then stopped and the passengers hurried out of danger to the end of the bridge.

ITALIANS LOSE HEAVILY.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—(By A. P. Night Wire.) No news was received today from the seat of war in Tripoli, except the report from Turkish sources of a fight in the neighborhood of "M. Home" in which the Italians are said to have lost heavily.

THRILLING STORY TOLD BY CIVIL WAR REFUGEES.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Missionary fugitives from China, with their families, making a part of twenty arrived on the liner Mongolia yesterday afternoon. The most interesting news brought back by the members was that of the Rev. S. H. Little of Hankow, who reports that the Rev. J. W. Nichols, son of Bishop William Ford Nichols of this city, is safe in his mission at Wu Shi, Kiang Su province, and that his family is safe at Shanghai.

The Rev. Mr. Little, who remained at Hankow and Wu Chang during the most exciting parts of the revolution, highly commends Gen. Li Yuan Heng, commander-in-chief of the revolutionists, and now Premier and Vice-President of the republic.

CHRISTIANS PROTECTED.

"Gen. Li Yuan Heng is a remarkable man," said one of the missionaries, "who took the utmost precautions to see to the safety of the Christians and the Christian Church. Even during the beginning of the revolution, he sent to us to see if we were safe. He had heavy punishment for any wrong against us or the Christians. I think this is one of the most remarkable demonstrations of the revolution."

It was in Hankow when the old soldier camp at Wu Chang was burned the night of October 10. This was the beginning of the revolution. The Chinese empire, for it was the signal for the uprising of the revolutionists, was in the midst of the revolution. The Chinese empire, for it was the signal for the uprising of the revolutionists, was in the midst of the revolution.

ARMISTICE EXTENDED FOR FOURTEEN DAYS.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

LONDON, Jan. 14.—According to a Shanghai dispatch, the armistice has been extended for two weeks, to give the Manchus an opportunity to abdicate.

The same dispatch says that two Chinese entered the French hospital at Shanghai yesterday, and walking into a ward where a prominent revolutionist was lying, wounded, shot him. The men escaped. The crime was the result, it is said, of factional jealousy.

THE MARCH TO PEKING.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—(By A. P. Night Wire.) Preparations are under way by the revolutionists to march on Peking, according to special dispatches from Shanghai and Peking. Twelve thousand imperial troops are on the way to Chin Wang Tao and Lanchow to oppose the expected landing of revolutionaries.

NO HAT FOR HIM.

Professor in German University Says Headgear Affects Operation of the Fifth Nerve.

Stuttgart, Jan. 14.—(By A. P. Night Wire.) Professor of the German University of Stuttgart, Germany, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday. The professor was not confused or embarrassed at not having a hat. The fact is, he never wears a hat, and he gives a logical reason for not doing so.

"I found that headgear affected the fifth nerve, which controls the eyes, and the ears, and the hearing," he said. "I found that headgear affected the fifth nerve, which controls the eyes, and the ears, and the hearing."

SUN SAYS YUAN MAY BE REPUBLIC LEADER.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NANKING, Jan. 14.—President Sun Yat Sen received the news of the pending abdication of the Emperor yesterday. He said he was glad to hear that the first step toward the pacification and reorganization of the country had been taken.

He said it was probable Yuan Shi Kai might be chosen as the leader of the republic. He adhered to his declaration that he would resign when the Manchus were driven out of the country.

STATE CONVENTION SET.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Jan. 14.—The Chamber of Commerce in the Democratic State Convention succeeded in naming February 20, as the date for the convention, at a meeting of the committee here yesterday. Admirers of former Gov. Joseph W. Folk wished the convention held in March, but claimed a victory in that it will be held in Joplin.

ENGINE TO RUN ITSELF.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

MINNEAPOLIS (Minn.) Jan. 14.—Traveling for thirteen miles without a guiding hand, in which time it switched from one road to another, Northern Pacific engine No. 3847 came to a stop at Cedar Rapids without harm to itself or other trains. The engine started in some manner at Northern Junction and hit the switch miles further on, where it was thrown over the Great Northern tracks, upon which it proceeded.

FORMER CASHIER INDICTED.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SPOKANE (Wash.) Jan. 14.—That the name of Edgar S. Wyman, former cashier of the defunct State Bank of Commerce at Wallace, Idaho, was placed at the head of the list of those recently indicted by the grand jury, became known yesterday, with the announcement that he had been advised to appear in Wallace tomorrow for arraignment. The charge is that of making false reports as to the bank's condition. He is charged with having made public, at the time of the previous investigation, Wyman, now a resident of Portland, was indicted with the other officers and directors on several charges. It is expected the others indicted by the present grand jury will be indicted Tuesday.

PREMIER MAY RETIRE WITH CHINESE COURT.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The Premier, Mr. Asquith, has referred the proposed abdication to certain foreign powers in the hope of inducing the withdrawal of the opposition heretofore placed in the way of raising a foreign loan. If not successful it is believed Yuan Shi Kai simultaneously will retire with his family.

The republicans are not yet aware of the Manchus' decision to ask for an extension of the armistice for a fortnight.

An official communication says that many large wells in Shen Si province are filled with the bodies of women, principally Manchus, who either themselves or their children were murdered.

YOUNG WOMAN HURT BY FALL.

Crown City Miss Injured
While Out Riding.

Campaign on to Double Y. M.
C. A. Membership Roll.

Keeper of the Mount Wilson Half-way House Dead.

(Times of The Times, 12 P. M. City Edition.)

PASADENA, Jan. 15.—Miss Hazel Baker, who lives at No. 321 North Marengo avenue, had some rough experiences she did not bargain for yesterday when with two young women friends she went for a horseback trip in the Arroyo Seco.

At one of the roughest places in the canyon her horse ran away and fell, plunging her to the ground by its weight until assistance came. Her left leg was severely wrenched and she was bruised and scratched about the face and hands, but it was reported last night that her condition is not serious.

With Miss Beas Clayton and Miss Iva Clayton, of the same address, Miss Baker had had a long day's ride in the canyon, and was on the return journey when the accident occurred. She is an expert horsewoman but at the sudden appearance of a pedestrian in the road her mount took the bit in his teeth and bolted.

Miss Baker, with remarkable presence of mind and a steady nerve, kept her seat until the horse, in bounding over some rocks, slipped and fell. She went down with her left leg under the animal.

Several men who were walking up the canyon ran to aid her and with difficulty prevented the frightened horse from kicking her to death as it endeavored to regain its footing. Though it was a painful undertaking, she took to the saddle again and rode to her home.

CAMPAIGN BEGINS TODAY.

The Pasadena Young Men's Christian Association today opens a campaign for new members which is to continue for a week and at the end of which officers and committees expect to see the present membership roll of 500 doubled.

Headquarters will be maintained in the Chamber of Commerce building and a number of prominent men of the city will take an active part in furthering the cause. The new association building, which is said to have the best-equipped Y.M.C.A. gymnasium on the Pacific coast, will be the principal drawing card and many will be shown through the institution.

The wheels will begin to turn at 6 o'clock tonight when the four membership teams that have been organized to carry on the work, and which will be known as the Red, Blue, Green and Yellow teams, will assemble for a supper at the building and set in motion their plans. At the head of the teams will be Charles Braden, Sanford F. Porter, Lawrence Waterhouse and L. H. Salisbury, all prominent residents of the city.

This dinner will be followed by a meeting at the Colorado street headquarters at 7 o'clock. Thereafter, the campaign will be carried on by the teams, which will be at work at 8:15 o'clock and at 9 o'clock there will be special games in the gymnasium.

This program will be followed up with similar programmes each night of this week, ending Saturday night with reports from the teams.

TAKES THE LAST TRAIL.

George A. Schneider, who for twenty years lived on the slope of Mt. Wilson, assisting in making the trails, and who for about eleven years kept the Half-way House on the toll road, died yesterday morning at the home of his mother, Mrs. William Schneider, No. 278 Cypress street, of tuberculosis, at 48 years of age. He was known as widely as any mountaineer in this part of the state.

Schneider took up his abode in the mountains near Pasadena in order that he might obtain the clearer air to improve his health. Many noted men, among them Andrew Carnegie and prominent astronomers from all parts of the world, had been guests of his mother, which was the first plastered building to be erected upon the mountain.

The funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of Reynolds and Van Noy and a number of forest rangers will serve as pallbearers.

The deceased leaves, besides a mother, two sisters, Mrs. B. C. Copley of No. 255 Meredith avenue, and Miss Sarah C. Schneider, who lives at the family residence and with whom Mrs. W. C. Schneider of No. 79 Mary street, a member of the firm of Schneider & Black, Walter Schneider, director of the Pasadena band, and Louis Schneider, a painter. The latter two live at the Cypress-street house.

OLD RESIDENT DIES.

Mrs. Adelaide Durrell, wife of George A. Durrell of No. 148 North Madison avenue, secretary of the Vineyard Land and Water Company, died late last Saturday night at her home after a short illness. She was 86 years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. Durrell came to Pasadena from Massachusetts twenty-five years ago and were active in many ways in the building up of the city. They made many friends who mourn Mrs. Durrell's death.

Besides a widow, she leaves two sons, Prof. Carlton E. Durrell of the faculty of the Pasadena High School, and Harold W. Durrell, a mining expert. The latter is in South Africa and will be unable to attend the funeral services which will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow (Tuesday) afternoon from the lives, Warren and Salisbury, chapel of interment will be made in Mountain View Cemetery.

SOON TO OPEN.

Active preparations are now in progress for the opening of the new Security National Bank, which is to have rooms in the Chamber of Commerce building, and in which E. H. May, former president of the First National Bank, will be the principal stockholder.

"The stock is over-subscribed," said May last night, "and we are now only attending to details. It will be two weeks before the papers will be ready. By that time I expect to have the list of officers and stockholders complete."

The rooms that have been leased are to be handsomely furnished.

CITY BRIEFS.

The pleasant weather and the band concert attracted one of the largest crowds that ever assembled at Central Park yesterday.

The latest information received at the Los Angeles office of the U. S. marshal, who is expected to arrive tomorrow, is that he will arrive tomorrow.

He was expected in the city today.

The new department gymnasium work at Carmelita playground, for boys between the ages of 12 and 15 years, will be opened for its first class at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The funeral services for Mrs. Rebecca C. Rose, who died last Saturday morning, will be held at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the late residence, No. 123 Abilene street.

BODY CONVEYED TO TOLEDO.

Remains of J. J. Swigart, who died in Los Angeles, will be buried in Toledo, Ohio.

POMONA, Jan. 14.—Robert F. Swigart, formerly of this city, is en route to Toledo, O., with the remains of his father, the late J. J. Swigart of Toledo, who has passed his winters here since 1888 and who died in Los Angeles last week at the age of 74 years.

Mr. Swigart made a fortune in steel bridge and construction work in the East and owned valuable orange groves here, where he had many friends.

The funeral will be held in Toledo, Wednesday, under the auspices of Toledo Commandery, Knights Templar, of which the deceased was a member.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Rev. Dr. J. Q. A. Henry of Los Angeles and San Francisco, was here today and addressed the meeting this afternoon at Pilgrim Congregational Church held in the interest of the "Men and Women Forward Movement."

Lewis Wilson, Clinton and Springer Evans, of the Los Angeles, Harry Mathewson and Charles Yost have left for Berkeley to resume their studies at the University of California.

J. A. Johnson, who has come here from Colorado and purchased of Arthur M. Dole the lots at the corner of Third and Main streets, is planning to erect a two-story pressed brick business block on the property.

W. W. Clark, director of the Pomona College gym club, and assistant to Prof. F. A. Bacon of the musical department at the college, has been engaged as chorister at the First Methodist Church here and commenced his work today.

E. L. Durham, who recently sold his lemon grove of twenty-two acres for $45,000, is planning to plant 100 acres to oranges and lemons in the Colton Heights tract north of here, being located in the enterprise with Royal Miller of Cincinnati.

AZUSA NOTES.

AZUSA, Jan. 14.—The stockholders of the United States National Bank today elected the new board of directors, who later elected the following officers: President, J. A. Graves; vice-president, J. J. Walker; cashier, J. H. Anderson; assistant cashier, C. L. Smith. The bank has increased its surplus to $200,000 and declared a 4 per cent semi-annual dividend.

The First National Bank has just closed its year and has a surplus of $100,000 and a dividend of 5 per cent. This is very unusual in the history of the bank, which has been in the United States only 1200 have a surplus equal to their respective capitals.

The National Bank now anticipates being placed upon the honor roll of the Treasury Department of the nation, the only bank, with one exception, in the United States, which has been so placed.

Azusa banks ask as low a rate of interest as any banks in the State, consequently their prosperity is due, not to extortion, but to good business conditions and general prosperity.

Messrs. Wardell and Wagner of Monrovia have secured the contract for putting in cement sidewalks and curbs on San Gabriel avenue, from Third street to Eleventh street.

Dissection of a Whale.

With a small refining plant located on a large in Cerritos Slough, between here and Wilmington, C. S. Johnson and J. W. Blake of Los Angeles are busy dissecting the gray whale recently killed by Capt. Loop, and reducing it to oil and fertilizer.

The weight of the whale was about 60,000 pounds and will yield sixty barrels of raw oil, which in that form is called mull, it is inferior to the sperm oil, but is used for lubricating purposes and for making soap. The flesh cut into strips and pressed and dried to extract all the grease products. Then the flesh is pressed in bales and ready for shipment to orange growers, who prize it as a fertilizer because of the nitrogen and ammonia it contains.

Capt. Loop is now anxiously awaiting the arrival of a contingent of men, which are en route from New Bedford, Ct., and upon their arrival will begin the new pier at Pine Avenue, which will be of great value as a commercial proposition.

PIER PLANS.

Tomorrow evening the City Council will meet with the Board of Public Works and a representative of an eastern construction company and discuss several plans which have been submitted for the new pier at Pine Avenue and Devil's Gate, to be built of reinforced concrete. It is estimated that the pier will cost about $125,000, and that a bond issue will be necessary.

BEACH BRIEFS.

During the four years of the city government under the freeholders' charter the City Council have passed 462 ordinances and 495 resolutions. The Council proceedings have filled four minute books of 500 pages each, one for each year, with closely written pages.

In addition, the Board of Public Works has used up one big volume of minutes and passed 121 resolutions, most of them awards for construction, extension and improvement contracts.

Gradually reception features are moving east of Pine Avenue on the Walk of a Thousand Lights, the erection of the municipal band stand east of the pier, and the probability of the council drawing the crowd from the west side having made property there more desirable. Yesterday afternoon, Egyptians, purchased 20 feet just opposite the band stand parcel, adjoining 140 feet being purchased at the same time by Dr. T. C. Sheldon. The price paid was $12,000 or 1200 a front foot. Both buyers will improve at once.

Aviation is a subject of much interest in the Polytechnic High School and two of the students have begun the construction of an airplane in the wood-working shops of the school. The machine, a monoplane, is being built by students Miller McClintock and Cecil Haskell, and so interested are they that work is continued long after school hours and on Saturday.

The big rock which occupied a prominent place on the old High School campus and which was buried by the class of 1911 shortly before commencement, is to be removed to the class of 1912 and moved to the Polytechnic campus. The rock, which is much revered by all students, weighs about a ton. It is annually benighted by the senior class to the juniors.

President P. E. Hatch of the National Bank of Long Beach has been appointed a member of the Membership Committee of the State Bankers' Association.

Mrs. Martha Wells died this morning at a local hospital. She was a native of Pennsylvania and 75 years of age, a resident of California forty years and of Long Beach six years. The body will be taken to Santa Ana for interment.

STRAW HATS RESURRECTED.

Temperature was seventy in the shade at Avalon yesterday and bathing was order of day.

AVAILON, Jan. 14.—With the thermometer standing at 70 deg. in the shade today, many bathers availed themselves of the bathing facilities.

At noon Crescent avenue resembled a summer beach and even straw hats, which were discarded months ago, were brought out for an airing. Not for many years has the tourist experienced such delightful weather on the island at this time of the year. So clear was the atmosphere, that the mountains of the mainland were clearly visible through the 100 miles of the island resembling a huge sheet of plate glass.

BRONZE BUTTONS.

G. E. Hammond, W. B. Kennedy and H. H. Walworth, employees of the Burrows Adding Machine Company, were successful in securing bronze buttons for the light blue class of the Tuna Club today by landing fish weighing over twenty pounds. Another member, G. Thompson, Phoenix, Ariz., brought to gaff three albacore weighing over nineteen and one-half pounds.

LAUNCH CRUISER.

Preparations are being made to launch the new cruiser, Mary J., which was recently built by J. E. Mathewson for J. J. Glanville of this place. The craft is sixty feet in length, and has been designed and built for the purpose of making several lengthy cruises.

BRIDGE NEARLY COMPLETED.

Magnificent structure across the Arroyo Seco will be ready for travel by Jan. 15.

SOUTH PASADENA, Jan. 14.—Construction work on the new concrete bridge across the Arroyo Seco near the Cerritos station is progressing so rapidly that the structure probably will be opened to traffic within the next sixty days.

One span has been entirely completed and the other spans are more than half done. The plans call for completion by the 1st of July and 200 cars a day can be accommodated by the bridge.

All pillars for the structure of six arches have been driven, and the framework for the masonry of the bridge has been started in place. Cement has been fired into place.

A reception in honor of the new members was held in the Baptist Church Friday evening, corner of 21st and Main streets. Since the organization of the church, forty-one new members have been taken into the church. The committee in charge of the entertainment was composed of Rev. W. Greathouse, forty-one new members have been taken into the church. The committee in charge of the entertainment was composed of Rev. W. Greathouse, Mrs. A. C. Starnes, Mrs. J. H. Berry, Mrs. A. C. Cichrins and Mrs. George Kellogg.

PROTEST AGAINST PROTESTS.

The Chamber of Commerce has appointed Jonathan S. Dodge, Jr., of Trask and D. S. Gates to appear before the Board of Trustees, tomorrow evening at a special meeting called to hear the protest against the paving of Pasadena avenue. It is necessary that this improvement be made as soon as possible. The Arroyo Seco bridge is completed, South Pasadena will have a boulevard, Pasadena avenue and Mission street connecting with it, which will be equal to the approaches from the other side in the city of Los Angeles, in which city there is a continuous boulevard from Broadway.

It will be distinctly detrimental to the interests of the city to have automobilists and tourists ride over highly improved boulevards to the bridge and strike prior streets in this city as soon as they have crossed the bridge.

LONG BEACH, Jan. 14.—Concerted action looking toward the abatement of the liquor traffic at Alamitos Bay will be taken tomorrow morning when a delegation of Long Beach citizens, headed by Stephen Townsend, H. M. Beckett, E. M. Whelan, F. A. Knight and W. Clifford Smith will wait upon the Board of Supervisors and urge them to immediately enact a law abolishing the wholesale liquor houses at Alamitos Bay and refuse to grant any license in the future.

It is claimed that the proximity of these places to Long Beach is detrimental to the protection community and has worked gradually wrong to the younger element.

It is charged that the downfall of several young girls has been traced directly to their visits to these places with young men. Some time ago the various churches took concerted action in the matter and petitions signed by the churches were given to the Board of Supervisors to call for the committee to make a final effort to influence the board.

Under the old local option law the precinct was the liquor unit and the board of supervisors has four wards, voted wet by 13 to 5. As a result three wholesale liquor houses and two restaurants were given permits and immediately the street-car traffic between Long Beach and Alamitos Bay increased sixfold and an extra car was added to the train schedule.

Since then the Wiley local option law has changed the situation, making the unit the supervisorial district outside of incorporated cities and the local people by a canvass say under this new condition they will carry prohibition by a 2 to 1 vote.

Angels' protection of facts they will ask the Supervisors to change Alamitos and other country towns of the district from wet to dry and this is not done they will circulate petitions, secure 25 per cent of the voting strength of the district and compel the Supervisors to call an immediate election on the question, which if in their favor will give the Supervisors no discretion in the matter. The present license expire on April 1.

GAMBLERS SURPRISED.

Attracted by a light which had been burning all night in a rear room on the fourth floor of the Butler House on Ocean avenue, roomers notified the police, who discovered a gambling table and a number of gamblers.

Money on the table, cards and chips were taken as evidence, and the four players taken to jail. They gave the names of Ben Paul, Charles Palmer, Charles Latney and Red Kennedy. Judge Hart fixed their bail at $100, in default of which the quartette will remain in jail until tomorrow morning.

CLAD IN PAJAMAS.

Guests at Hotel Julian were aroused this morning by smoke in their rooms and in the corridors and there was a hasty flight of half-clad and half-dressed guests.

While the guests were fleeing, a fire broke out in the rear of the hotel, and a fire station two blocks away and prompt response given. The fire was located in a gas motor which had ignited near the cut-off in some mysterious way and was blazing merrily.

It was extinguished with only nominal damage and the frightened guests fled to their rooms, where they were dressing or resuming their interrupted slumbers.

SMOTE HAND THAT FED.

Joe Martin, who started to the police this morning that he met a well-dressed stranger last night who told him a hard luck story and Martin generously offered to share his bed with him, giving the fellow a good meal. Before daylight Martin awoke and missed the guest and also a pair of trousers and $4 in money.

NEW OFFICERS.

The local post of the G.A.R. has elected and installed as officers E. D. Spoofer, commander; S. D. Graves, adjutant; J. H. Anderson, secretary; L. B. Palmer, quartermaster; adjutant, T. W. Lincoln; patriotic instructor, J. C. Collins; officer of the guard, H. H. Hylers; surgeon, Dr. Van Burskirk.

DISSECTING A WHALE.

With a small refining plant located on a large in Cerritos Slough, between here and Wilmington, C. S. Johnson and J. W. Blake of Los Angeles are busy dissecting the gray whale recently killed by Capt. Loop, and reducing it to oil and fertilizer.

The weight of the whale was about 60,000 pounds and will yield sixty barrels of raw oil, which in that form is called mull, it is inferior to the sperm oil, but is used for lubricating purposes and for making soap. The flesh cut into strips and pressed and dried to extract all the grease products. Then the flesh is pressed in bales and ready for shipment to orange growers, who prize it as a fertilizer because of the nitrogen and ammonia it contains.

Capt. Loop is now anxiously awaiting the arrival of a contingent of men, which are en route from New Bedford, Ct., and upon their arrival will begin the new pier at Pine Avenue, which will be of great value as a commercial proposition.

PIER PLANS.

Tomorrow evening the City Council will meet with the Board of Public Works and a representative of an eastern construction company and discuss several plans which have been submitted for the new pier at Pine Avenue and Devil's Gate, to be built of reinforced concrete. It is estimated that the pier will cost about $125,000, and that a bond issue will be necessary.

BEACH BRIEFS.

During the four years of the city government under the freeholders' charter the City Council have passed 462 ordinances and 495 resolutions. The Council proceedings have filled four minute books of 500 pages each, one for each year, with closely written pages.

In addition, the Board of Public Works has used up one big volume of minutes and passed 121 resolutions, most of them awards for construction, extension and improvement contracts.

Gradually reception features are moving east of Pine Avenue on the Walk of a Thousand Lights, the erection of the municipal band stand east of the pier, and the probability of the council drawing the crowd from the west side having made property there more desirable. Yesterday afternoon, Egyptians, purchased 20 feet just opposite the band stand parcel, adjoining 140 feet being purchased at the same time by Dr. T. C. Sheldon. The price paid was $12,000 or 1200 a front foot. Both buyers will improve at once.

STRAW HATS RESURRECTED.

Temperature was seventy in the shade at Avalon yesterday and bathing was order of day.

AVAILON, Jan. 14.—With the thermometer standing at 70 deg. in the shade today, many bathers availed themselves of the bathing facilities.

At noon Crescent avenue resembled a summer beach and even straw hats, which were discarded months ago, were brought out for an airing. Not for many years has the tourist experienced such delightful weather on the island at this time of the year. So clear was the atmosphere, that the mountains of the mainland were clearly visible through the 100 miles of the island resembling a huge sheet of plate glass.

BRONZE BUTTONS.

G. E. Hammond, W. B. Kennedy and H. H. Walworth, employees of the Burrows Adding Machine Company, were successful in securing bronze buttons for the light blue class of the Tuna Club today by landing fish weighing over twenty pounds. Another member, G. Thompson, Phoenix, Ariz., brought to gaff three albacore weighing over nineteen and one-half pounds.

LAUNCH CRUISER.

Preparations are being made to launch the new cruiser, Mary J., which was recently built by J. E. Mathewson for J. J. Glanville of this place. The craft is sixty feet in length, and has been designed and built for the purpose of making several lengthy cruises.

BRIDGE NEARLY COMPLETED.

Magnificent structure across the Arroyo Seco will be ready for travel by Jan. 15.

SOUTH PASADENA, Jan. 14.—Construction work on the new concrete bridge across the Arroyo Seco near the Cerritos station is progressing so rapidly that the structure probably will be opened to traffic within the next sixty days.

One span has been entirely completed and the other spans are more than half done. The plans call for completion by the 1st of July and 200 cars a day can be accommodated by the bridge.

All pillars for the structure of six arches have been driven, and the framework for the masonry of the bridge has been started in place. Cement has been fired into place.

A reception in honor of the new members was held in the Baptist Church Friday evening, corner of 21st and Main streets. Since the organization of the church, forty-one new members have been taken into the church. The committee in charge of the entertainment was composed of Rev. W. Greathouse, Mrs. A. C. Starnes, Mrs. J. H. Berry, Mrs. A. C. Cichrins and Mrs. George Kellogg.

PROTEST AGAINST PROTESTS.

The Chamber of Commerce has appointed Jonathan S. Dodge, Jr., of Trask and D. S. Gates to appear before the Board of Trustees, tomorrow evening at a special meeting called to hear the protest against the paving of Pasadena avenue. It is necessary that this improvement be made as soon as possible. The Arroyo Seco bridge is completed, South Pasadena will have a boulevard, Pasadena avenue and Mission street connecting with it, which will be equal to the approaches from the other side in the city of Los Angeles, in which city there is a continuous boulevard from Broadway.

It will be distinctly detrimental to the interests of the city to have automobilists and tourists ride over highly improved boulevards to the bridge and strike prior streets in this city as soon as they have crossed the bridge.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Disaster Scalds.
John Ryan, 25 years old, was badly scalded on both hands and wrists while washing dishes shortly before noon yesterday. He lives at No. 323 Grand avenue, and was working at No. 109 Fifth street when the accident occurred. An unusual amount of scalding water escaped unexpectedly from the faucet and caught him unaware. His injuries were dressed at the Receiving Hospital.

Charge Auto Theft.
Marion Fawcett, 25 years old, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Fryer yesterday at a hotel on South Olive street and charged with complicity in the stealing of Harry Weinburg's automobile. It was taken from his garage on Magnolia street on the night of December 23. Fawcett is said to have been accompanied by three other young men. At San Bernardino the machine was run into a telephone pole, wrecked and abandoned.

Collides With Auto.
Nick Pomato, who works for a meat market on San Fernando street, collided head first with an automobile at the corner of Third and Los Angeles streets yesterday morning. He sustained a broken right collar bone and other injuries, and was taken to the Receiving Hospital. The auto was driven by Carl Fawcett, No. 1242 Stanford street. Pomato told the authorities he was to blame, as he was riding a bicycle on the wrong side of the street.

BIBLE TEACHER BEGINS DUTIES.
Church Federation members give warm greeting.

Bible Institute's Dean Says Knowledge Without Love Is Not Only Useless, but Dangerous—Universal Law Taught Power Which We Misuse Will Be Reactionary.

When Dr. R. A. Torrey, who recently accepted the position of dean of the Los Angeles Bible Institute, arose to speak in Temple Auditorium, yesterday afternoon, he was greeted by applause. The meeting was held under the auspices of the church federation, and by way of introduction to his address, Dr. Torrey said:

"I feel quite at home at a meeting, the keynote of which is the federation of churches for the purpose of the upliftment of humanity. I feel that I am an incarnation of the spirit of church federation. My mother was a Presbyterian, my father was a Unitarian, I was educated in a Methodist institution, was baptized by immersion and married an Episcopalian woman."

"I have been asked what I intend to do in Los Angeles. I wish to say that I intend to do nothing. By myself I can do nothing, but I hope that God will use me as an instrument in His hand to draw many men and women to His mighty heart. If we are to accomplish anything of value, we must forget ourselves and depend upon our Maker for help. We must earnestly pray that he will use us for His glory before we attempt to do anything ourselves."

"We may have our Y.M.C.A.'s, our Y.W.C.A.'s, our religious and forward movements, and our churches, but if these institutions are not kept alive and glowing by the power of God which comes through earnest prayer, the devil will laugh to himself, for he could not be better pleased."

"The aim of the Bible Institute is to instruct men and women in the knowledge of the Bible in order that they may go out and do good in the world. We already have enough critics, enough men and women who understand something of the Bible, but who have not the spirit of the Master. Knowledge without love is not only useless—it is dangerous."

"The man or woman who possesses great understanding and who does not apply it in loving service is a useless member of society. Moreover, that person's knowledge in time will turn and rend him, will be his own destroyer, for it is a universal law that that power, which we refuse to use in a legitimate way, will react upon us to our own undoing."

Dr. Torrey spoke of the coming of day after day to this city, and said he hoped every Christian man and woman in Los Angeles would attend the meetings and assist the evangelists in his work. These services will be held in Shrine Auditorium, from January 27 to February 14.

Others who spoke at the meeting yesterday afternoon were Lorin A. Handley, Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher and Rev. A. B. Pritchard.

FLOWING TEARS
AVAIL NOTHING.Former Preacher Weeps All
Day in County Jail.Convicted of Embezzlement
He Appeals Higher.Allegations Piled High by Assertive Victims.

A timid, shrinking little man, soft of voice and slow of speech, wept silently and unrestrainedly all day yesterday in his cell in the County Jail. In fact, his eyes have scarcely been dry since he entered the jail Friday.

John W. Watson is the name of the lachrymose prisoner. He is accused of having swindled many Los Angeles people, rich and poor alike, and was convicted of embezzlement in Judge McCormick's court because of one of his deals. He has been a long and forlorn prisoner in the gloomy jail building and not even his wife or daughter has visited him since he was made a prisoner.

Yesterday morning Watson timidly asked permission of his jailer to telephone to his wife. His eyelids were red and swollen from incessant weeping. He was unstrung when he went to the telephone. Evidently his wife answered the phone and asked him if he would be able to secure his release on bail.

"No, my dear, it is impossible for me to give bail," he answered.

WIFE IS ILL.
When he hung up the receiver he apologetically informed one of the jail guards that his wife had been ill since his conviction.

"She has not been able to come and see me," he said gently, as he was led back to his cell.

At the jail it is said that a number of years ago Watson was a minister of the gospel but that he found, like many others, that his salary as the pastor of a small country church, was insufficient.

Watson first came into prominence in Los Angeles as an "investor," or, in other words, he acted as a fiscal agent for persons who had money to invest. He also loaned money at a good rate of interest. Many people mentioned the word "shark" after his name after they had gone through a few transactions with him. Finally a woman started a rumor that he was not right with Watson and immediately a horde of people swooped down upon him and began making complaints at the District Attorney's office.

ACCUSERS LEGION.
The "get-rich-quick" deals of Watson are said to have netted him a large sum of money in the last year. Here are some of the things of which he is accused:

Embezzlement of $2500 from William W. Phalen by a "second mortgage deal." He was convicted on this charge.

Accused of swindling Henry Colton, Frank and Lillian Broman, A. and Orlinda Thelander, and Minnie E. Blighston out of $1800.

J. H. Buchanan, retired capitalist formerly of Pueblo, Colo., claims Watson swindled him out of $15,000 in various deals.

A. J. Edgar, No. 429 West Sixty-ninth street, claims to have been swindled in a $1200 note deal.

Alleged to have embezzled $300 from Mrs. F. D. Truckmiller of Pasadena.

Attorney J. A. Donnell declares Watson secured $2600 from a client of his by fraudulent means.

Mrs. F. C. Fleming of No. 1041 Mariposa avenue, Pasadena, says she lost $2750 she entrusted to Watson to invest.

Miss S. N. Landis, a sister of Mrs. Fleming, claims to have lost $1000 in a similar manner.

Ella Baker, a poor woman, says she lost $1500 through buying a house of Watson which later burned down. Watson is said to have sold the furniture that was saved and to have collected the insurance, keeping the money for his own use.

Joseph Tanner says he lost $1000 through a Watson deal.

Anna Stewart asserts she lost $1500, she lost $2500 of Boyle Heights alleges he lost $2500 in a deal with Watson.

Watson had an office in the Currier building.

Watson, who lives at 635 Hobart boulevard, was arrested just after he had alighted in the downtown district from an automobile in which were seated his wife and daughter. He was tried in the Phalen case and was convicted. Judge McCormick refused to grant him a new trial and now his attorney, Jud Rush, is making preparations to appeal the case.

A MOTHER'S DUTY

It is the duty of every expectant mother to prepare her system for the coming of her little one; to avoid as far as possible the suffering of such occasions, and endeavor to pass through the crisis with her health and strength unimpaired. This she may do through the use of Mother's Friend, a remedy that has been so long in use, and accomplished so much good, that it is in no sense an experiment, but a preparation which always produces the best results. It is for external application and so penetrating in its nature as to thoroughly lubricate every muscle, nerve and tendon involved during the period before baby comes. It aids nature by expanding the skin and tissues, relieves tenderness and soreness, and perfectly prepares the system for natural and safe motherhood. Mother's Friend has been used and endorsed by thousands of mothers, and its use will prove a comfort and a benefit to any woman in need of such a remedy. Mother's Friend is sold in drug stores, or by mail, for $1.00 per bottle. Write for free book for expectant mothers, which contains much valuable information.

Smith, alias Dr. J. C. Day, was brought to this city yesterday by Detective
J. C. Chapman. He is charged with embezzling $2500 from Mrs. Nellie street. Smith was located in Portland by a dispatch from that city published in The Times, recounting his arrest there for disturbing the peace. Portland officers did not know then who their man was.

Smith employed an attorney in Portland named a "flimsey" resistance to being extradited. Habeas corpus proceedings were resorted to by his attorney to get him out of the clutches of the law. It was after the first writ had been denied and steps

Summer Frocks, Surf, Sand and Sunshine

BEACH TRAFFIC BREAKS ALL JANUARY RECORDS.
ALL existing records for Sunday traffic in January were literally blown away by the balmy sea breezes yesterday, for everyone who could do so made straight for the beaches. Venice, Santa Monica, Redondo and the adjacent straits were the most popular, about 35,000 people gathering there from Los Angeles and the surrounding towns. Long Beach itself drew 15,000, according to officials of the Pacific Electric. How many more were added by the countless auto parties is a matter for conjecture only. Surf bathing was in demand at all the beaches and probably the largest number that ever entered the ocean on a January day enjoyed the warm water.

BEACH TRAFFIC BREAKS ALL JANUARY RECORDS.
A TINY zephyr, soft with the breath of summer and laden with the delicate perfume of the many roses, blew into town early yesterday morning, like the conditions, hung its breeze upon a convenient bough in Central Park and dispatched a messenger for the entire sephyr family. It was the warmest Sunday of the winter; indeed the oldest inhabitant declares it was the warmest January Sunday in many winters. At any rate Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Master Angeleno got one whiff of the balmy air and commenced to pack a lunch and wonder how soon they could reach the ocean.

WOMAN STEPS OFF A MOVING CAR; KILLED.
MRS. FRANK ESKREW of Berry, Ill., walked off a moving out-bound West Adams street car on West Twenty-fourth, between Raymond and El Paso streets at 11:15 o'clock yesterday morning and sustained injuries which caused her death at the Pacific Hospital half an hour later. Coroner Hartwell will hold an inquest Tuesday. The body will be shipped East for interment, where several children and grandchildren reside.

WOMAN STEPS OFF A MOVING CAR; KILLED.
Mrs. Eskew was a niece of Mrs. Fay Roberts of No. 701 Temple street, and for two months had been visiting Mrs. Boyd, a close friend, at No. 1629 West

LEAVE MANGLED VICTIM IN ROAD.
Boy Hurled Into Auto; Joy Riders Eject Him.

Moaning from Broken Leg He Is Abandoned.
Brutality Arouses Citizens; Hunt for Motorists.

Coolly lifting their mangled victim from the racing car into which he had been hurled by the force of their collision with his bicycle near El Monte, yesterday morning four unidentified joy riders disregarded his pleading to be taken to a doctor and left him moaning beside the road with a broken leg. The callous brutality of the members of the party, all of whom were men, so thoroughly aroused the citizens of El Monte that, had they not hastily retraced their path, they might have been summarily dealt with.

MRS. FRANK ESKREW of Berry, Ill., walked off a moving out-bound West Adams street car on West Twenty-fourth, between Raymond and El Paso streets at 11:15 o'clock yesterday morning and sustained injuries which caused her death at the Pacific Hospital half an hour later. Coroner Hartwell will hold an inquest Tuesday. The body will be shipped East for interment, where several children and grandchildren reside.

Of this city, who was badly injured in a collision with an automobile containing four unidentified joy riders near El Monte, yesterday morning. Hurled from his wrecked bicycle into the machine by the impact, the boy was coolly put off and left moaning by the roadside with a broken leg and badly cut head. Refusing to give their names, the members of the auto party hurriedly reentered their machine, turned it around and dashed away.

BEACH TRAFFIC BREAKS ALL JANUARY RECORDS.
A TINY zephyr, soft with the breath of summer and laden with the delicate perfume of the many roses, blew into town early yesterday morning, like the conditions, hung its breeze upon a convenient bough in Central Park and dispatched a messenger for the entire sephyr family. It was the warmest Sunday of the winter; indeed the oldest inhabitant declares it was the warmest January Sunday in many winters. At any rate Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Master Angeleno got one whiff of the balmy air and commenced to pack a lunch and wonder how soon they could reach the ocean.

SHERLOCK HOLMES.

Sherlock Holmes and others have spread entirely too much education abroad in the land. A Mexican arrested at Colton for carrying concealed weapons wore stained gloves. He was dodging the science of finger prints.

A MISCONCEPTION.

A minister has resigned at San Bernardino because his vestry wanted him to pay rent if he resided in the rectory. By some curious blunder of mental machinery the reverend gentleman has assumed that parsonages are built for parsons.

THE PRICE OF POLY.

A woman in the State of Washington complains that she was robbed of $1500 by a gipsy who hypnotized her. As long as people of tolerable sanity will go to some addle-brained stranger whose breath and fingernails suggest the need of a local health commissioner, for advice on how to run their private affairs they are likely to lose some of their money and all of their self-respect.

THE PASSENGERS' TROUBLE.

It will certainly help put an end to opium smuggling if ships on which the contraband article is found are held responsible for the fines of the smugglers, as has been ordered by the Federal authorities at Washington. We think it likely, however, that with this order suspended above them the ship captains will feel it their duty to pay some of their passengers more attention than will be pleasant for them. A great many people ride on ships who have not the slightest wish to smuggle opium in large quantities.

SOMETHING WRONG.

Recently a pretty San Francisco woman was detained in Los Angeles for several days by the husband from whom she had run away. She returned to him under protest, saying that she had never been given any pretty clothes or spending money, and that she had drawn the family savings and run off to satisfy a nature that was starved for comfort and refinement. On Friday the lady was arrested in San Francisco on complaint of a piano dealer. The sequel to her story is not surprising. Persons whose conduct is abnormal often present plausible excuses, but it is generally a question of a little time until their lack of responsibility and disregard for the feelings of others embroil them in some criminal episode.

T RUTTS AND WOOL.

Cotton and woolen and flannel mills are not in a trust. Fruit and vegetable canneries are not in a trust. Soap and starch manufacturers are not in a trust. Coffee and tea importers are not in a trust. Since the decision in the Standard Oil and tobacco cases, petroleum and cigars are not in a trust. The great compartment stores are not in a trust. There is not a factory, a furnace, or a foundry in Los Angeles that is in a trust. There is not a man or a woman in this city who is able and willing to work in doing anything useful that the world wants done that need lack for employment that will bring at least abundant food and comfortable shelter and, as a rule, fair remuneration for competent service. Our daily journals contain columns of advertisements calling for teamsters, farm hands, men to work on canal and railroads, and a competent cook and housemaid is sought for by housekeepers as eagerly as the Golden Fleece was hunted by Jason.

Let those who declaim about "special privileges," predatory wealth, and loathsome capitalists, and who loaf around the dead-end looking for jobs and afraid that they will find one, just go to work. They can find work easily if they look for it in good faith.

THE PADDED BRICK BURGLAR.

Making terms with lawbreakers in the hope of escaping future depredations at their hands is hardly a good precedent for the citizens of a great metropolis to establish. Yet the jewelers of Chicago have resorted to this extreme step because of the too successful operations of the "padded-brick burglar," who has been breaking their show windows and making off with many valuable gems. They have even invited him to a "peace banquet," where they have offered to pension him off after giving him an immunity bath—presumably in champagne. It has not yet been reported whether he is willing to accept their terms.

In the first place this is a confession of weakness and impotence. One would think that a whole class of rich and reputable merchants like the jewelers of Chicago would be above dicker with a petty sneak thief of the "padded-brick burglar" variety.

In the second place this action is a direct incentive to other criminals. The man who is willing to condone lawless acts in order that he may be excluded from their operations himself is practically allying himself with the forces arrayed against society. Such a course, if it became universal, would lead to anarchy and the overthrow of all established government.

But above all it is a blow at the majesty of the law—the majesty of the sovereign people, and so touches the rights and privileges of every single citizen in the United States. We trust that the citizens of Chicago will stand against every misfactor, whatever the pecuniary loss or personal inconvenience.

TAFT AND NULLUS.

There are a great many people busily engaged in speculating as to who will be the Republican nominee for the Presidency to be chosen by the national convention in Chicago in the latter days of June. There are two men at least in the United States who have no magings on this head, and they are reputed to know a good deal about it. One is the President himself, an active candidate for renomination, and the other is the famous writer on political subjects, Sam Blythe. If either were asked he would answer in the words of our headline, "Taft aut nullus."

Now Mr. Taft's views might be held by some to be colored with prejudice founded on amour propre. Blythe's views are not prejudiced in favor of Mr. Taft, nor for love of him. This free-lance newspaper man is very far from Taftian in his sympathies. His belief is that the country needs and probably will be blessed with a Democratic President in the next term of the office. Of all Republican aspirants he probably would choose Taft last and T. R. first. He prefers T. R. to Pompadour Bob of Wisconsin because the colonel is more radical than the Senator. And Blythe, being a Democrat, is naturally a radical.

In a carefully prepared article in the Saturday Evening Post of January 13 Sam discusses the power of an incumbent in the President's chair to renominate himself. A careful reading of the article leads to his conclusion:

There will be in the next Republican convention 1073 delegates. In the one four years ago there were 930. The increase is owing to the increased representation in the House of Representatives based on the last census.

With this membership it will require 537 votes to nominate. As Blythe notes the situation, Taft is sure of the following States with their delegations: Alabama, 24; Arkansas, 13; Florida, 12; Georgia, 23; Louisiana, 20; Mississippi, 30; North Carolina, 24; South Carolina, 15; Tennessee, 24; Texas, 40; Virginia, 24. Here we have, Blythe says, "a neat little nucleus of 323 votes out of a required 537. With these tucked away, it is much easier to secure the remaining 214 than otherwise."

Now there are certain other Southern States where the President may have some difficulty in securing a solid delegation. These are, with their delegations: Kentucky, 20; Maryland, 16; Missouri, 36; Oklahoma, 20. But, although there may be more fight in these States between the friends of the President and those unfriendly to his nomination, yet Sam Blythe is of the opinion that it will not be hard to add all of these to the 323 counted above, increasing the Taft contingent to 350. If we concede this to be correct or nearly correct, there will be lacking only 187 votes to nominate. Pennsylvania has 76 and New York 90 votes, making 166, and leaving only 21 more to get.

The reason the southern voters are looked upon as pretty sure by Sam Blythe and other well-informed political writers is a matter of history. Like Patrick Henry's simile, it was simply borrowing a torch from the past to illuminate the future. Hanna got all the southern votes for McKinley in 1896, and they were solid for the Roosevelt in 1900. That President in 1900. Roosevelt had been President three years when the convention of 1904 met, and the southern delegation was solid for his renomination. As President, Roosevelt used his influence to secure the southern delegates for Taft in 1908 and got them to a man.

This accounts for all the beating of tom-toms and shouting on the part of Republican aspirants for the Presidential nomination. At first the cry was, "A vote for Roosevelt is a vote for Taft." When La Follette saw all his hopes go glimmering like an aurora borealis before the rays of an unclouded rising sun a lot of people set up the other cry and are doing all they can to divert Taft votes to the colonel without his solicitation, indeed in the face of his repeated declarations that he is not a candidate.

California may inaugurate, putting herself in the ranks of the La Follettes. Minnesota and shooting on the part of Republican aspirants for the Presidential nomination. At first the cry was, "A vote for Roosevelt is a vote for Taft." When La Follette saw all his hopes go glimmering like an aurora borealis before the rays of an unclouded rising sun a lot of people set up the other cry and are doing all they can to divert Taft votes to the colonel without his solicitation, indeed in the face of his repeated declarations that he is not a candidate.

THE JAPANESE IN HAWAII.

Congress is at last taking notice of the fact—testified to by Maj. Gen. William H. Carter before the House Military Committee—that there are 35,000 Japanese in Hawaii Territory, mostly employed on the sugar plantations, who are ex-soldiers and who, in the event of a war between the United States and Japan would, unless conditions should be changed, seize and hold the islands.

At the close of the Japanese-Chinese War the Japanese government defrayed the cost of sending 25,000 of her disbanded soldiers to the islands, where they were employed at once on sugar plantations then and thereafter established. Under the rule of King Kalakaua, of Queen Liliuokalani, and of the Dole republic, an alien could become a "denizen" without abjuring his allegiance to his native land. As a denizen he was entitled to all the privileges of citizenship, including the right to vote and hold office. The plot was that these 25,000 denizens, who outnumbered all other voters, should elect Japanese to the Legislature who should vote to annex the islands to Japan. The protectorate established by England and France over Hawaii extended only to guarantee Hawaii against being seized and annexed by a foreign power, and did not cover the contingency of a peaceful annexation by the voluntary action of the Hawaiian government.

It was a knowledge of this purpose and plan of Japan that caused the overthrow of the Queen by the Americans and other foreigners and the prompt annexation of Hawaii by the United States.

A measure that would peacefully and inexpensively guard the islands against any such machinations of Japan would be to amend the Chinese exclusion act so as to allow

Another Cold Wave Back East!

The introduction of Chinese coolies into the islands, with ample guards against their being permitted to come to the mainland.

The sugar plantations would gladly and promptly substitute Chinese for Japanese in the cane fields, for the Chinese are better laborers than the Japs. They are more industrious, more sober and more reliable. The Japanese on Oahu some years since organized a strike for higher wages which they attempted to support by picketing, boycotting and assassinating. One of the results was the attempted assassination and wounding of a Japanese editor who opposed the strike. The courts acted promptly in issuing injunctions which were enforced by the police. But the Japanese colony of 35,000 is a seething mass of discontent. The Japs are loyal to Japan. If there should be a war between that country and the United States they would be the enemy. They are armed with revolvers and machetes and it is suspected that they have a supply of rifles concealed.

The proposition of Gen. Carter that the fortifications and the number of our troops in Honolulu should be increased ought to be heeded by Congress. But a still better preventive against possibilities of disaster would be a substitution of Chinese for Japanese on the sugar plantations.

SOUNDS SPOOKY.

Mysterious agencies are evidently at work in Pasadena. Basking in brilliant sunshine, swept by the free mountain breezes, occupying the proud position as Crown of the Valley, one would hardly imagine fair Pasadena as likely to be popular with spooks and pixies.

Yet surely some Puck or Ariel or Comus has been playing sad pranks among solemn circles where such pranks are least appreciated—in church and school environments. For behold! one night a magnificent banner, advertising the "Fishermen Gospel Singers," a huge emblem forty feet long and six feet wide, was spirited away from the Tremont Baptist Chapel on Raymond avenue as though it had been a child's toy balloon or an urchin's kite. For thirty-six hours it must have hovered in the pellucid ether above the Crown City, while detective vainly sought for it. Then one dark night it suddenly attached itself to the Corinthian pillars in front of the High School. It made the startling announcement that that classic seat of learning was the home of a great religious revival where might be enjoyed snappy sermons and the latest in gospel hymns.

As Aviator Rogers has been able to prove an alibi the conclusion that the "Midsummer Night's Dream" elves and sprites have come to earth again among the green hills of the Southwest is the only explanation the police can offer of this freakish performance.

VICTIMS OF GRAFTERS.

It seems impossible for certain crooked union-labor leaders to move in any direction without violating some penal statute—State or Federal. They gravitate toward crookedness and small swindling when not engaged in arson and murder. After counsel had informed union leaders that the McNamara brothers were guilty beyond peradventure those leaders flooded the unions throughout the country with begging circulars averring that the McNamara brothers were innocent as unborn babes; that the villainous plutocrats of Los Angeles had employed Burns to suborn witnesses against these guileless victims of a plutocratic conspiracy; that it could be demonstrated beyond peradventure, by scientific expert testimony, that the Times Building was blown up with gas, and that money was needed immediately for the defense of the unjustly accused McNamara brothers. Gompers backed up these circulars by begging letters by telegraphing all over the country that he was convinced of the innocence of the accused men, and Roosevelt's previous warm

BURDETTE AT THE BAT.

A Home Run for the Colleges.

One of the great "Ironmasters" of his land and his day, a strong and forceful man and a strange enemy to higher education, passed away in time to escape seeing a triumph of the university over another great ironmaster who is a strong friend of popular education. And with reason.

Mr. Andrew Carnegie, decidedly a great man, great as some whom he has listed in his "twenty greatest," never had the advantages of a university training. He was educated in the school of telegraph messengers, and with that training he wrought mightily in the workshops of the world. But he missed some things, and how he missed them is a mystery to people who haunt his splendid libraries in search of knowledge.

He admitted the other day before the Congressional investigating committee that "he had heard something of the Sherman law." But he knew nothing about it. Didn't know what it was for. Didn't know what was its scope. Didn't know how it affected the greatest industries of the United States, in one of which he was the majority stockholder. Just "heard of it somewhere."

Where, during the past score of years, could he have heard of it? He might have heard the little newsmen shouting something about it on the street. Or, if the telegraph messengers of that day were as bright and clever as they now are some of them might have told him something about it. At the annual meetings of the stockholders of the United States Steel corporation some remarks concerning the Sherman law may have been casually dropped into the ironmaster's hearing. Possibly—although this possibility is very faint and remote—he may have seen something about it in the newspapers. But these are all the merest conjectures. The mystery, which Mr. Carnegie does not attempt to solve himself, remains a problem—where could Andrew Carnegie have "heard something," nay, anything about the Sherman anti-trust law?

This is perhaps one of the coldest, deepest, densest, blackest shadows of ignorance that ever drifted over this land. It must be attributed to Mr. Carnegie's lack of university training. Four years in Harvard or Yale would have illumined his darkened mind on this faint item in American legislation. Oh, if in his boyhood he had only learned to read and love the Congressional Record, dusty volumes of which now are the strongest shelves in the darkest corners of his many valuable libraries, all this confession of ignorance might have been unnecessary. Still, it is not hopeless, nor yet utter ignorance. He admits that he "heard something about it."

Causes of Street Congestion.

In the investigation of the causes of and the search for a remedy for the congestion of the downtown streets of Los Angeles certain elements appear to have been overlooked; at least, they have not been specifically mentioned in any of the official reports made public.

I. The tourists. They swarm into the city by the million, or least. Every train from Farthest East, Farthest North, the Greenland Ice Floe of B.C. 14,000, the Alaska Glacial District, and other frozen portions of the United States, floods our streets with streams of furred and fanned and red-faced tourists. They are a city of 300,000 people are blocked by a population of 800,000. Something must be done to change the climate in the East and to check the tide of immigration to Los Angeles, that our streets may become as empty as Lover's Lane in Reno.

II. The use of the streets by somnambulists. There should be an ordinance prohibiting somnambulists from mooning across the streets between the hours of six morning to morning. Only people who drive automobiles and trolley cars have any idea of the large and continually increasing number of persons who cross and recross the streets between the hours of six morning to morning. They start from one curb, headed in the general direction of the other side of the street, sound asleep. They walk calmly between a howling auto and a ringing trolley car, their eyes fixed on any old vacancy above the nearest skyscraper. They hear nothing and see nothing until they bump into a team of truck horses. Providence has ordained that the truck teamster shall have the voice of a fog horn and the vocabulary of the whole army in Flanders, with a personal application of a privately-owned alarm clock. Admonished by the teamster, the somnambulist turns around, still asleep, and retraces his deliberate steps back to the place of beginning.

III. The Dear Old Lady. "God bless her," she is the greatest creature in the world who would add to the complexities and the perplexities of the traffic problem. Her indignation toward the ill-mannered persons who crowd and jostle on the crossings is equalled in emphasis only by her admiration for the gentlemanly policeman who allows traffic to romp east and west, north and south, for five confused, roaring, tangled minutes, while he pilots her across Spring street at Third, much against her will and in spite of her strenuous attempts to charge down the middle of both streets in opposite directions at the same time. She starts from the east coast, stops, and checks the traffic nearest the curb. She sees on a little way and checks the light travel nearest the trolley track. She makes another start and holds up both lines of cars. She hears her destination on the west coast, when an automobile, standing perfectly still under the paralysis of the policeman's lifted finger, coughs at her. She makes a wild dash back to her starting point, scares half a dozen drivers and chauffeurs into heart failure, but charges her mind about midway and resumes her westward journey; stops to look for her daughter whom she left on the sidewalk; asks a passer-by, crossing the street in leaps and bounds, if he has seen her; starts on again, only to be halted by the thrilling spectacle of a big safe on its aerial way to a ninth-story window; starts once more; hears a changing bell and catches a swift glimpse of a fire engine crossing the street two blocks away, gives one wild shriek, drops her bundles and falls into the arms of the traffic policeman who carries her to the side of the street from whence she started, and dynamites her into a condition of wrathful independence and indignant activity by calling her "old lady," at which she puts on the high and sails across the street like a torpedo boat, discharging a measure of speed record. "The Dear Old Lady" dearly loves crossing the street and the Street Commissioner should set aside certain avenues which she may be entitled to cross back and forth at all hours of the day and night.

Carnival of Sports. TED TETZLAFF RACING HERO.

Tears Off Speedy Mile at Ascot Park Course. Thousands of Spectators See Exciting Events. Herrick Wins Honors in Barrel-Dodging Contest.

Six thousand spectators at Ascot Park yesterday afternoon saw the best carnival of sports ever pulled off on the dirt track. Though clouds of dust enveloped the motor cars as they were sent around the mile oval the throng enjoyed every minute of the meet, which was handled in first-class shape by the men of the local motor world.

When the big red Fiat, the car that won the grand prize race at Savannah, was driven to the tape for the five-away dash, the crowd roared. Its first speed thrill. Teddy Tetzlaff turned the fastest mile ever made on the dirt track from a standing start and won the speed honors of the day. He made the circuit in 52 1/4 seconds. With him was Calley Bragg, the man who with the Fiat "ninety" defeated Barney Oldfield in the "Biltmore" race.

When given the gun the Fiat leaped into the turn, swung around the curve and dashed down the back stretch at a ninety-mile-an-hour pace. As Tetzlaff took the second curve the crowd became excited. World record time was being made. Tetzlaff dashed over the tape at remarkable speed, with his car eating space like a winner in a big road race.

Harvey Herrick was sent away in the National for the second exhibition mile against time. He used the car that won the Santa Monica road race. His time of 1m. 3 1/2-sec was more than nine seconds slower than the Fiat. It must be said in Harvey's favor that the track is rough and in no shape for fast work. He could have turned the mile at least five seconds faster but he did not care to take the risk that Tetzlaff did, when he sent the Fiat at such a terrific pace.

NEAR COLLISION.

The barrel dodging stunt was interesting. Here Harvey Herrick came into his own in great shape. He won the dodging stunt, which is a fierce test of a driver's skill, in 22 1/2-sec. His opponent was Leonard Jones in the Hippodrome Young Jones put up a great race, but the National had more speed than the modest car. In this event a collision between the big Fiat and the Midland was narrowly averted.

WHEELS WIN.

John Wiese, the United States tire man, won the eighth of a mile bicycle race, according to Referee Leon T. Shettler. The crowd saw Wiese walk away with the first heat and Bill Russ win the second heat. It's a question, however, as to just what Wiese did in the second sprint. He appeared to drop back to allow the Pope-Hartford champion a chance. He may have been too tired to pump his way to the finish even after sitting a lead.

This is certain. Both men were all in at the finish. Wiese made a white flag gateway in the first heat and won with ease. Wild Bill Russ was not in the race for a second. The Fiat Pope champion had a chance to watch the tire man as Wiese romped away to the line. Wiese took his honors modestly. He is backed by Judge Barr, the Firestone tire man, and then consented to race another heat. Both men looked handsome in their suits of skin tight.

RUESS ALL IN.

There was considerable excitement at the Los Angeles Athletic Club after the race, when De Witt Van Court received a heavy summons from Bill Russ. Russ said: "In a weak voice, which barely reached Van Court, Wild Bill urged him to come quick and rub him. Van saw the trouble and realizing that Bill was too dead to finish the sentence he rushed to the 'rubber' to the Pope-Hartford camp to give Russ first aid."

Through a mighty effort on his part Wiese after the race bowed to the crowd and walked across the track, with the cords of his legs as large as the back of a whip. Wiese was the hero of the hour, but he suffered acutely from the strain. He expected to go East tomorrow, but must wait until Saturday before starting for Chicago, where he will attend the automobile show. He is afraid he will not be able to walk for a few days. It is hinted that Wiese practiced, and judging from his showing in the race, he seemed to be in trim.

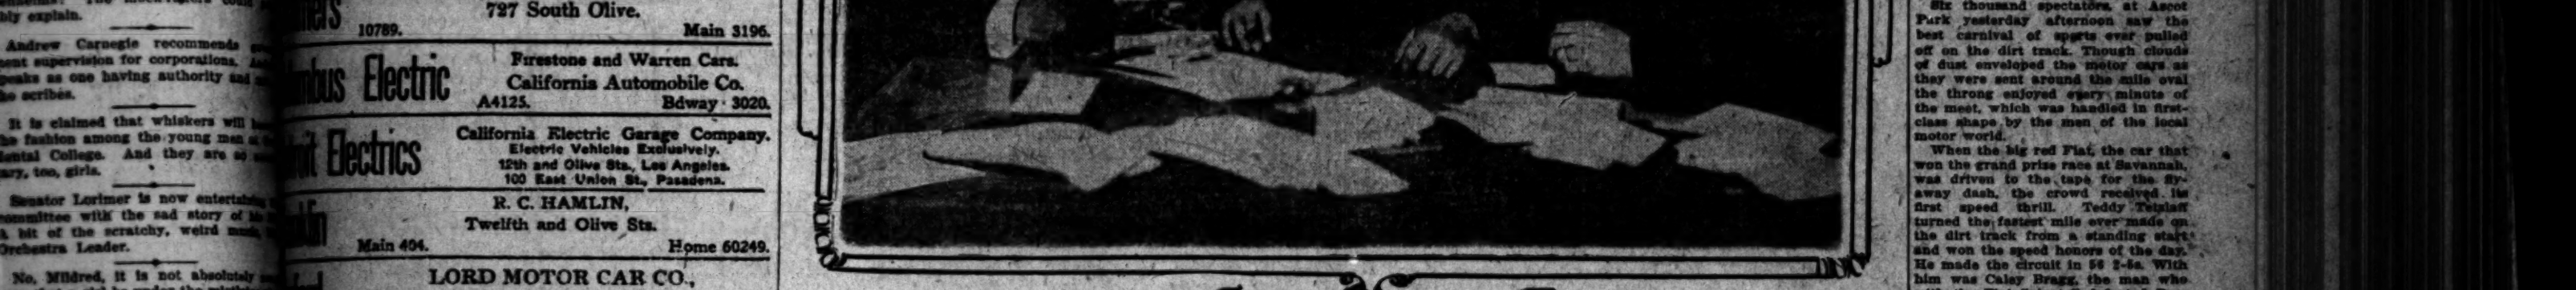

Bert Dingley lost the tire changing stunt after he had apparently won the trick. Three men, Teddy Tetzlaff in the Fiat, Harvey Herrick in the National and Dingley in the Pope-Hartford, were sent away from the three-quarter pole together. Each had to change a tire before reaching the tape. Dingley stopped far down the track, but Tetzlaff came close to the tape, changed his tire in rapid time, and then raced to the tape an easy winner. His Fiat finished yards ahead of the National.

FIAT AHEAD.

Calley Bragg won the five-mile special event with the big Fiat "48," the red demon that won the Savannah grand prize race. This car made its first appearance in Los Angeles at a race meet yesterday. Attorney E. E. Hewlett was there to watch his "Red Baby" in the workout. Bragg is a great driver. He handled the car like the veteran he is and swept to the tape a winner with Teddy Tetzlaff in the other Fiat, second and Paul Hinkley in the Hudson third.

Tetzlaff walked away with the Hinksworth special five-mile event. Like the Hinksworth event a certain average speed was required by the winner. Tetzlaff kept the red car flying around the track in great shape and was so close to the exact time requirement that there was never a question as to the winner. The schedule allowed 6m. 40s. for the five miles.

Willing to Try. JAP BIRD MAN TO ENTER BIG AVIATION MEET.

Expects to Return to Native Country and Teach Art of Flying to Army and Navy Officers When He Has Become Proficient—Balloons Will Attempt to Fly Upward Five Miles.

BY R. A. WYNNE.

FRANK SUZUKI, aged 20, born in Kobe, Japan, and a loyal son of the Mikado, will fly an aeroplane at the approaching international aviation meet which begins Saturday of this week at Dominguez Field.

Suzuki is stated to be the only Japanese birdman in America and the first of his countrymen to learn in California how to operate a biplane.

Suzuki has spent six months in learning the delicate art of manipulating a biplane. He first approached Harry Schiller, who for the last year or so has been an ardent student of aviation, and who owns one Curtiss and one hybrid machine, which he planned and constructed himself. The Jap stated his desire, and, as he is not much larger than the proverbial pound of soap, the idea of his flying the little Japanese plane was scouted. The little Japanese only asked then to be permitted to remain around the hangar at Dominguez, and this permission was given him. He made himself useful, and eventually became invaluable.

He made several ascensions with Schiller, and finally took the biplane out himself and flew it around the course several times.

Since then he has been steadily advancing in the art of handling the air machines, and can fly with equal facility a monoplane or a biplane.

"My countrymen are all trying to learn how to fly an airplane," said Suzuki yesterday, "and I am very anxious to become proficient. I can do all that is necessary now in the ordinary flying, but I want to become so familiar and so accustomed to flying that if anything should happen to my machine in the air I will be able to do what is right."

"Then I will go back to Japan and try to assist in teaching the army and navy officers the art of flying."

Suzuki is entered in almost all of the events, and in the great race of nations, which will be one of the big features of the show, will represent Japan. In addition to Suzuki, there will be representatives of the United States, England, Germany, Sweden, France, Spain and Russia.

Sunday was a busy day at the aviation field. With twenty-five monoplanes and biplanes now at the field, the hangars were scenes of tremendous activity as the machines were tuned up or assembled.

A large crowd of curious persons gathered to watch the Jap's first attempt to Dominguez with the expectation of flights being made by the course several times.

TO BALLOON IN DIVER'S HELMETS. MAY SUTTON TO COME BACK.

A startling attempt to break all human records for altitude is to be made at the coming aviation meeting. George B. Harrison is one of the men now working on the plan which is to secure the latest model of a diving helmet with oxygen tank attached and, with these to furnish the artificial air needed at great heights, to attempt to send an ordinary staunch spherical balloon to the almost unbelievable height of 30,000 feet or almost six miles straight up in the air.

The present world's record for altitude in a balloon is 26,000 feet and to make the coveted mark of 30,000 feet it will be necessary to go almost one mile above the former world's record.

The planned attempt has been kept secret for several days while Harrison is negotiating for the use of the oxygen helmets and will be sprung as a surprise on the public.

The friends of Miss May Sutton, the premier lady tennis player of the English-speaking world, are telling of the secret plans of Miss Sutton to take one last fling at her own beloved game and sweep from the board the host of claimants and near-champions who have arisen during the last year.

Miss Sutton herself is very uncommunicative in regard to this, but acknowledges that she has entered in the Coronado tournament which begins February 2 and lasts until February 12, inclusive. She has also entered in the Long Beach or Virginia tournament, which also comes in February, and she is preparing to sweep through the lady contestants like a high-powered motor car through chaff.

During the last year Miss Sutton has played tennis in a half dozen tournaments, but has not entered the big deciding events in any of the States, sections or in the nation. As a result there are new champions holding titles which Miss Sutton formerly held and which were lost only to the inactivity of the young lady.

Miss Sutton is in perfect condition at present and has been playing tennis at frequent week-end parties at the homes of friends throughout Southern California. In this manner she has finally come to make up her mind to go back into the "big game" and sweep the boards once more, if she can.

The only two big tournaments in Southern California this winter now in sight are the Coronado and Long Beach meets. In neither of these is Miss Hazel Hotchkiss of San Francisco, the conqueror of the year, in Miss Sutton for championship honors.

Thus Miss Sutton will not meet her clever foe this winter.

Miss Hotchkiss is playing excellent tennis this year and swept everything before her during her recent summer campaign in the East. Miss Sutton did not meet Miss Hotchkiss in any of the big tournaments in the East except in the one match at Niagara on the Lakes in Canada, when Miss Hotchkiss won.

The close friends of the champion say that this defeat at the hands of Miss Hotchkiss has rankled in Miss Sutton's breast and that she has read a great deal about new champions in various sections and as a result is said to have figuratively rolled up her sleeves and taken her "trusty racket out of the case and is going after the scalps of all of the claimants to any of her former titles."

Miss Sutton's condition is much better than it was six months ago and is the outcome of regular and strenuous practice. As a result of this preparation and determination on her part Southern California lovers of the great game can look forward to some magnificent tennis during the winter months.

WHIFFS FROM THE OLD SPORT PIPE. JESTER MOTOR BOAT WINS CLOSE RACE.

IN DIRECT VIEW TO THE TIMES. SAN DIEGO, Jan. 14.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Two of the fastest motor boats in San Diego waters participated in an exciting race today. The Jester, owned by Tom Hamilton, won fifteen miles against Capt. James Sweet's Reluc, which covered ten miles. At the finish, the Jester was six seconds ahead of the Reluc. This was the first race of the Jester, which was recently turned out of a local boat-building shop.

The Jester is equipped with a sixty-five-horsepower engine and has a gasoline capacity of sixty-five gallons. The style of the boat is known as a day cruiser. Next Sunday there will be a motor boat race to the Coronado Islands and return.

MUSIC AND STAGE.

that it really may be called one of the two or three most remarkable works of its class during the past decade.

And it is certainly a genuine "Chocolate Soldier" that De Novellis and the rest are giving Los Angeles this week at the Teatro di Hamburg.

"The Campus."

"Hamlet" without Hamlet was played at the Grand Opera-house yesterday afternoon.

The largest audience of the season—absolute capacity, above and below—had assembled to witness home Muggins Davies and Walter de Leon, in Mr. de Leon's own play, "The Campus."

But, though "The Campus" was present, Mr. and Mrs. de Leon were not. The eastern blizzards had tied up their train, and late last night was the earliest at which it would be possible for them to get to town.

On short notice, Percy Bronson and Myrtle Dingwall got up in the de Leon and Davies roles, and gave a very creditable performance.

This necessitated some switching of minor roles, so that anyone who expected to get infallible dope from the programme certainly went into bankruptcy if any bets were made thereon.

Frances White played the part that was assigned to Myrtle Dingwall. Charles Dudley moved up to Oliver Leola's role, and corresponding changes were made in lesser assignments.

Most of the other roles were played by their originators, including Bob Leonard as "Pat" and Ferria Hartman as the German professor, and the afternoon passed in general joyousness.

Walter and Muggins are expected to positively appear tonight.

"Three Twins."

The "Three Twins" is so brimful of hilarious nonsense, and so timely from beginning to end, that it is doubtful if the theater-going public will ever tire of it.

The audience which gathered at the Lyceum yesterday afternoon to greet the famous musical comedy at its first performance in a week's engagement here, failed to find a dull moment, and went away whistling "Come and Cuddle Me" and "Yama Yama Girl" with as much contented abandon as if this were the first time it had heard these lilting melodies.

Is there anyone outside of a possible "Rip van Winkle" who doesn't know all about the Twins? In the first place it was "In Cog" who, being regarded as one of the best farce comedies for years, and when the music was added and the wondrously timed and elaborate scenery, sumptuous costumes and clever dancers, it created a furore which has not died out after half a decade.

With a pair of twins, and a third young man disguised to look like them, and three girls, one of them married to one of the twins, and all six acting in an apparently hopeless mix-up, one can easily imagine the world of fun, the merriment, and the complexities are such that one can see the Twins often and still laugh as heartily as ever.

In this particular company—there are nearly fifteen on the road at the present time, by the way—George Elmer is Tom Stanhope, who, in a scheme to win the girl he loves, disguises himself by copying a photo and becomes the third twin.

Elmer is a better comedian than Stanhope, and plays the part capably. He is especially good in the second act, in which he inserts some specialties of his own. He is not slender like Clifton Crawford, creator of the part, but is graceful, none the less, and his hypnotic dance with Mollie, who many genuine demands for more. Charles Lawrence and D. L. Capone as Dick and Harry Winters, are the other twins, and are both good.

John Burkell plays the part of Dr. Hartman, connoisseur of the sanatorium in which the last act is staged, and in which the baffling trio is finally identified, and his portrayal of the German scientist is a corking piece of character work.

While Mr. Burkell's opportunities are limited, his work, through sheer merit, stands out as perhaps the best performed of any of the principals.

Ernest Gower is dyspeptic Gen. Stanhope. He doesn't make the part as volcanic as have the majority of his predecessors, but is acceptable, none the less. Once, in a moment of surprise, he makes a standing jump over the back of a high chair which catches one quite unawares and gets a big hand. He's some jumper, in Geyer. Floyd White, a pompadour boy, appears as Ned Moreland.

Gertrude Hutchinson is Kate Armitage, the girl Tom loves. Her voice is sweet, though not strong. It is she who sings the "Cuddle Me" song, which, as the prettiest number in the show, wins the lion's share of applause. Miss Hutchinson also contributes an interpolated number, one of the vocal gymnastic sort, which pleases, because it is well done.

Estelle Colbert impersonates Mollie Summers, the girl who is always laughing. With the weeping Mrs. Winters carefully played by Emily Burke, she has the "Boo Hoo—Tee Hee" song. She also carries off the honors as the Yama Yama girl, and is Mr. Elmer's partner in the hypnotic waltz.

Miss Colbert has a fair voice, but depends more upon her buoyant personality and clever dancing to score, which she does most emphatically.

Of course, "Three Twins" has a chorus. It is one of the kind that can sing and what, with its Yama girls and the other numbers, plays an important part in the production. The swing number is gorgeously staged, and the variety of costumes extends from the next-to-nothing rowing suits, to some handsome dress gowns.

"Way Down East."

The Burbank Stock Company yesterday commenced its second week in Lottie Blair Parker's rural classic, "Way Down East," which for the past week has been attracting overtopping audiences to the Main-street playhouse.

Florence Stone continues to win praise for her portrayal of Anna Moore, while the role of David Bartlett is one of the best characterizations that Forest Stanley has given since coming to the Burbank. Henry Stockbridge has scored one of the individual hits of the performance with his ill-fated, one-act play.

The Burbank company now have in preparation to follow "Way Down East" David Belasco and Henry C. de Mille's famous play, "The Will," in which Katherine Derby, the new Burbank ingenue, will make her first appearance.

"Alas Jimmy."

The Belasco Theater company will tonight give the first performance by any stock company, Paul Armstrong's play "Alas Jimmy Valentine."

The presentation of this drama is in itself an event of more than ordinary interest, but it is made doubly so by the first appearance of the new Belasco leading man, William Gibson, and Thomas MacLaren.

For his first appearance on the Belasco stage, Mr. Gibson will have the role of Jimmy Valentine, the reformed safe-cracker, originally played by H. B. Warner, and in which he will have every opportunity to score a personal success of proportion.

Mr. MacLaren is equally fortunate in his first role, having been cast for Detective Day, probably the truest type of the real central office man that has ever been written into a play.

"La Boheme."

Grazzi's company will begin its second week at the Auditorium this evening with that most attractive story of Bohemian life in the Paris Latin quarter, Puccini's "La Boheme."

The cast: Rodolphe, M. Pasquale; Marcel, M. Egan; Colline, M. Schumann; M. Demangene, Colline; M. Garcia; St. Phare, M. Giraud; Benoit, M. Lefevre; Mlle. Mme. Chambellan; Mlle. Mlle. Rula.

"The Fortune Hunter."

The "Fortune Hunter," Winchell Smith's comedy of life and suburban life, with Fred Niblo in the title role, and a company including Josephine Cohan, will begin a week's engagement at the Mason tonight.

"The Fortune Hunter" scored a great success when here last year and box-office indications are that the hit will be repeated.

Low Fields's thirty-minute version of his musical comedy success "The Girl Behind the Counter," with his brother Nat as the star, will be the headline feature of the new Sullivan & Considine bill opening at the Empress this afternoon.

Although probably a greater portion of the theatergoers have heard of or are familiar with the success of "The Girl Behind the Counter," in which Low Fields starred for two entire seasons in the East, the piece has never been seen in the West.

It was Mr. Fields himself who conceived the idea of making a thirty-minute version of the musical play, retaining all of the features that the time would allow.

The original production. The company surrounding Nat Fields is an unusually large one for the vaudeville stage, including a chorus of sprightly young women.

Beginning this afternoon, the Orpheum will present five new acts in a bill every one of them new to Los Angeles.

Charles F. Semon, "The narrow fellow," an eccentric type of musician, singer and dancer, heads the aggregation, with his oddity in musical amusement.

"The Right Hand," said to be a strong dramatic playlet, will be presented by Helen Grantley, Alma MacLaren and Frank Ritchie.

Miss Grantley is a cleverly timed and well-skilled actress who won fame by presenting in vaudeville the only musical sketch, Harry Puck and Mabelle Lewis are clever and nimble footed singers who voice the compositions of Mr. Puck, in intimate and fastidious style.

Scott will afford diversion by tricks and tumblers in comedy vein on the stage, and the fastidious and the very funny Paulman car act of Mrs. Gardner Crane and company, Genaro and Bailey, and Cunningham and Marion remain.

The motion pictures will contain a surprise in one of the biggest news features of the day and the orchestra music will be especially fine, with the "Merry Wives of Windsor" overture a feature number.

"Texas Tommy" remains another week at Pantages.

Since the first performance of the dance that is becoming a society craze all over the country, the theater has been crowded to the last seat at every performance and hundreds have been turned away.

In theatrical parlance this is a "dead" performance for the continuance of the attraction, and late Saturday night Manager Walker secured the consent of Mr. Pantages to postpone the Seattle engagement of Mr. Weber and Miss Wilson, in order that they might remain here for the present week.

There are the exponents of the "Society Texas Tommy" as distinguished from the "standard" variety, and the winners of every championship offered by reputable theaters and clubs in San Francisco, including the Princess Theater silver championship, and the "Chickens" ball.

Immediately prior to their appearance here they appeared for ten continuous weeks at the Princess Theater in San Francisco. In addition to the "Texas Tommy" they are featuring the "1912 Waltz" and the "Panama-Pacific Rag."

Co-starring with Harry Tate will be the second feature of the week.

The L. A. Submarine Boat Co. Offers $500.00

To any one who can point out a defect that will interfere with the efficiency of this craft as regards anything which we claim it shall be competent to do.

WE CLAIM that the "Peace Maker" will run faster than any Submarine ever built. The ease with which it can be controlled increases as the speed increases. The man operating the boat knows at all times how fast the boat is going, how deep it is and whether or not it is on a level keel, and he has perfect control over all these features. When the top of the periscope or range finder is above the surface of the water, the man operating the boat can gauge the distance away, the speed and the direction of travel of every object that is within sight, and he can see everything around the whole horizon at once. This Submarine has a wide field of operation before it for pleasure, treasure seeking, dredging and scientific research. The present types of boats are slow, especially when submerged, whereas this boat runs faster submerged than when on the surface. It is very dangerous to attempt to run the present Submarines fast when submerged and there isn't a boat today that can run submerged on a level keel. This boat, in order to stay at a given depth, whether running or not, will maintain a level keel. Our boat is better in every way than the present Submarines.
